

Alfred Carl Amundson

Alfred Carl Amundson was born 16 November 1895 in Eureka Township, Dakota County, Minnesota to Joseph and Caroline “Lina” (Nilson) Amundson. His mother was a native of Norway. The Amundsons had a large family and were farmers in Eureka in 1910, but the 1920 and 1930 census records shows the family in Sundal, Norman County, Minnesota.

Alfred registered for the draft on 5 June 1917 in Eureka, and stated he was employed as a laborer for Harry Wilson at Fox Lake. He served overseas between 1918 and 1919 as a Private in Battalion F, 331st Reb., 86th “Black Hawk” Division of the National Army.

After the War, Alfred married Celia Watry Maxson on 26 September 1925 in Michigan; they had several children. Amundson died 26 December 1971 at Minneapolis, Hennepin County, Minnesota and is buried at Fort Snelling National Cemetery.
